

WASHINGTON LETTER

From our Regular Correspondent

Washington, D.C., June, 1893.

POLITICIANS

Like courtiers, "crook the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrift may follow fawning," but they bow to the voter and not the prince. Political parties have courted the soldier vote with the effect to enlarge pension expenditures beyond all precedent. These large payments are felt right in the main, for what will a man give in exchange for his life? And did not these men risk their lives? Many lost life, while survivors brought from battle, camp, hospital and prison, but a fraction of the life they had. Knowing this, ex-confederates assent to pensioning and rival parties are liberal to do so, considering how pensions government's usually are in such cases. But a broad interpretation was given by the last administration to the Dependent Pensions Act, whereby expenditures were increased beyond the intent of Congress. This and the disclosure of frauds such as practiced at Norfolk, Virginia, and the financial stringency that hardens men's hearts, has emboldened some to call a halt in pension giving.

THE EXTENT

Of fraudulent pensions is a matter of conjecture. Probably it is less than charged by some and more than others admit. One difficulty in the way of rectifying the evil is the expense of ferreting out and proving frauds. It will cost about as much as to pay the pensions. But there may be a gain in thus checking future increase of pecuniary.

THE GREAT MASS

Offenders are honestly entitled to their money. The sweeping statement of negative pensioners must not be accepted in the business. The Western Congressman who on the floor of the House charges that pensions were given for badness is honest but probably misled. It is true that after long search one or two cases have been found of pensioners and badly by war fever. I am glad to hear that when the whole story is told it will appear that the fever was contracted in the service and that it had more serious sequelae.

HOW THE WORLD IS GIVEN TO LYING

A remark that needs to be pondered in connection with political vilification, scandal and charges. Investigations are good. Bad customs should be broken up and corrupt officials exposed. But on the other hand indiscriminate accusations, suspicious tales and certainties, and the lurid stories of half informed, inquisitorial and mistaken detectives should be checked. Volunteer witnesses eager for appointment or promotion who whisper testimony into the ears of friendly partisans are a curse to the land and so are they that publish such stuff.

THE TRUTH

It had to get even in court, under the sanction of oaths, with cross examinations and a just judge presiding. Witnesses "forget things and swear to them. There are gossip who hear of blood and can at once tell a whole story of murder. They have a remark about tumbrels for example, and their imaginations and tongues begin to roll like an oil in a hot pot. They rant and blather, who asked the bigger, how much blood was spilled and what the doctor's bill will be.

A WIDE INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE

Has before it more or less of these tumbrel witnesses, who roll their own facts into view. The evil of political lying is that public believers think they are getting in getting even and are thus tempted to do the same by which they imagine others have profited.

CAPITAL

The demand which nearly exhausted the June issue of Washington's Guide must have been gratifying to publishers. Though we are sorry that we could not share it, as our exchange was diverted therefrom to their proper destination here, but we are fairly well provided this month and are informed that the July issue is a record breaking one for the publishers, making the largest circulation yet attained to meet the wants of those who were unable to get last edition. The present month's Guide contains all the latest and revised tables of train service and steamboat travel both by ocean and lake. A number of new post offices, mail connections, mail guide, municipal and county court changes, etc., and the general business tables, etc., are all additions and alterations to date.

THE RIFLE.

The third match in the Dominion Rifle League was shot on Saturday last. Although an ugly fight with the wind blowing during the match, the scoring was much better than last match as I have no doubt will compare favorably with other teams in the match. The score was:

Mr. Macdonald informs us it is the intention of the Minister of the Interior to pay Prince Albert a visit in the near future, of which timely notice will be given. In the meantime the people of the town and district should put their best together as to the reception given Mr. Day, as well as to what matters they intend bringing to his notice while here.

1893, "The Crown of the Divan Cup," "La Cadena" and "La Flor" brands of cigars are undoubtedly superior in quality and considerably lower in price than any brand imported. Perjudicial smokers will not admit this to be the case. The connoisseur knows it. S. DAVIS & SONS, Montreal.

PRISONERS LIBERATED.

Many who have been confined to their beds for years by rheumatism, lame back and kidney complaints, have been liberated from their sad prison by the wonderful regulating and purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters which drives out the acid poison from the blood and restores health to the afflicted.
